SENATOR JOHN P. JONES.

Hon. Henry S. Fitch Addresses Some Good Counsel to the Voters of Nevada—Unanswerable Reasons for the Re-election of Senator Jones.

EDITOR TERRITORIAL ENTERPRISE—Dear Sir: The election of Senator John P. Jones to the United States Senate is a matter of the very greatest interest to citizens of other States than Nevada, and must answer for my humble effort in his behalf. The question of full monetization of silver—that is, unlimited coinage of it; of unlimited legal tender, and upon equal terms with the coinage of gold—is a matter of the gravest interest, not only to the silver-producing States and Territories, but to the whole United States. It is more important than any other question involved in the pending election.

To Senator Jones, more than to any other man in the United States, do the friends of silver look for such legislation as shall successfully and satisfactorily settle this silver question. His twelve years in the Senate; his keen observation, and profound studies of monetary finance; the integrity of his convictions; and his remarkable power of impressing the minds of those who hear him speak, are requirements and qualities which fit him for the masterly work to be done.

Nevada, more than any other State in the Union, is made or marred by right or wrong action taken upon the silver question. No representative of the State, in private or public life, has shown the possession of qualities so marvelously adapted to serve the highest interests of the people as Senator Jones, and while I feel that he may be properly appreciated, and that he must again be returned to the Senate, I cannot withhold the impulse to warn the people of the consequences of his defeat. With Senator Jones out of the Senate, the bill introduced into the last Congress, to discontinue the coinage of silver, even at the rate at present permitted, must soon be acted upon, and would most certainly become a law. In such an event, silver (the great protection of Nevada) would become relegated to the status of a commodity, and subject to all the contingencies of barter, and no longer employed for monetary use, would fall in value to a point so low that mining for it would be impracticable. Legislation which shall result in the discontinuance of silver coinage, must damage your State beyond our power to estimate. This would have been accomplished some years ago, if it had not been met by a mind singularly qualified to combat the proposition. Senator Jones' logic upon the measure was absolutely indestructible. Notwithstanding the construction of his thesis upon a new and advanced theory of finance, it is evidence of a master mind that evolves theories upon finance capable of overthrowing the accepted aphorisms of a century.

That Senator Jones arose to the championship of this work in the Senate of the United States, and wrested a partial victory from a promised defeat, was an honor to the State which sent him there and should entitle him to the imperishable favor of its citizens.

Minds are few in our country capable of a mastery of the subtleties of the old financial economists, and, when found, should be installed in the most exalted position a nation may have at its disposal. On the occasion of the delivery of the first speech of Senator Jones in the Senate of the United States, I took issue with him upon its text, and wrote and published a review of it, marked with considerable asperity of feeling. Since that time I have observed the course of Senator Jones with particular interest in all his public acts.

As may be seen in what I have already written, I am grateful for an occasion to say how thoroughly he has established himself, not only in my confidence, but in the estimation of all men who are giving to the subject of national finance their careful study. As Chairman of "The United States Monetary Commission" his work was extreme, and he tokened a grasp of the questions referred to that body of a character unequalled in mental capacity. His great speech upon the monetization of silver, or the establishment of the "double standard" of coinage, was held when made, and stands to-day, the most marvelous argument that has ever emanated from the Senate.

His various other speeches, which I have not the time to mention specifically, were in their order of delivery considered invulnerable in logic and built upon a quality of information that added continually to his fame. His speech upon the tariff question, taking the side of protection to American labor and productions, stands unparalleled in lucidity and power.

It seems impossible that the people of Nevada can fail to continue to honor a man of such transcendent qualities, one so marvelously endowed with power to serve the State. I think I speak the sentiment of all thoughtful men in the silver-producing States and Territories when I declare that the election of John P. Jones to the United States Senate for a third term is of national importance, and that there is no man living who can take his place and fill it as acceptably, profitably and satisfactorily to the people as he whose name heads this article.

Very respectfully,
HENRY S. FITCH.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

JOHN A. LOGAN, OF ILLINOIS.

The Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.) in a double-headed editorial, says: The Democracy of Ohio have been defeated. The fight, which closed on Tuesday, lacked nothing on either side to call out the people. Both parties had fair notice that on the 14th of October there would be a tremendous encounter for political supremacy in this State. No platitudinal excuse, no appeal for sympathy, no complaint against outrageous treatment, in short, no "baby act," can soften the situation or palliate the effect of the defeat. There is no substantial comfort for anybody in the proposition that one party had more money than the other; that anybody was intimidated, or that either political army was outgeneraled and outnumbered in Ohio. The result, even if there should be a considerable reduction of the majority claimed by the Republicans, means that the Democrats must put forth every effort to save New York, New Jersey and Indiana to Cleveland and Hendricks. It was a great mistake to claim Ohio.

Quartermaster-General Holabird, in his annual report, recommends that authority be given to pay $10 per month to all line officers properly detailed to service in the Quartermaster's department and who actually render a consecutive service of not less than thirty days at one time, provided such payments do not in the aggregate exceed $25,000 per year. He says the necessity of assembling troops in larger and more permanent posts near Indian reservations and in proximity to the great strategic points in the country adjacent to its valuable public reservations, harbors and ports, becomes daily more and more apparent, on consideration of the principles of economy, efficiency and wise government. The report states that there are eighty-two national cemeteries, containing 321,623 interments.

In a tariff convention in Chicago in 1880, Mr. E. S. Hartshorn, of Troy, New York, spoke of flax spinning: "I am engaged in flax spinning, and with that business, as it exists at present here and in Europe, I am quite familiar. The labor for which we pay $100,000 annually can be had in Great Britain for $40,000. Are not the farmers surrounding our village, and the merchants, artisans, doctors, lawyers, boarding house keepers, horse owners, etc., better off with 100,000 paid to the operators in our works than if only $40,000 annually would do the farmers in and about Troy if it were paid to operators in England as the free traders contend it should be."

The Director of the Mint has prepared a statement in regard to the present money circulation in the thirty-nine principal countries of the world, as compared with the circulation reported a year ago, which shows a decrease in the gold circulation of about $52,000,000, an increase in the silver circulation of $42,000,000, and an increase in the paper circulation of $112,000,000. He attributes the loss in gold circulation to a reduced production and to an increased use of that metal in ornamenting and the arts.

The Douglas county Republicans passed the following resolution: Resolved, That we are fully satisfied and greatly pleased at the manner and way in which the Hon. J. P. Jones has served his constituency in the Senate, and that our candidate for the Assembly pledge himself to the support of Mr. Jones.

David Davis is for Blaine and Logan, but Jefferson Davis is for Cleveland and Hendricks.

THE OHIO VICTORY.

The Returns all in — Robinson's Plurality 11,421—A Republican Gain of 26,053 Votes and Four Congressmen.

COLUMBUS, October 16.

Official returns received at Republican headquarters to-night, from Ash-tabula and Wood counties (these being the last to report and complete the list). The revised figures give Robinson a plurality of 11,421. This shows a Republican gain of 26,053, and a Democratic gain of 2,182. In sixty-six counties the Republicans made all their gains and the Democrats in the rest. The Republican gains in the rural districts are equal to their plurality. Chairman Ogilvie concedes the election of Ellsberry in the Eleventh District. The delegation to Congress will stand eleven Democratic and ten Republican.

THE VOICE OF OHIO.

The Defeat of Cleveland Clearly Indicated.

The New York Sun in a double-headed editorial says: "Well, Ohio performs for Cleveland in 1884 the same office which North Carolina performed for Greeley in 1872. It kills him as a candidate. The Democracy will not have Cleveland for President. They would not have Greeley, not alone because he did not represent the ideas of the Democracy, but still more because he was not fit to be President. For the same high and resistless reasons they will not have Cleveland now. He does not represent the ideas of the Democracy and is not fit to be President. Yet, in one most important respect, the difference is enormous between these two candidates. Both were imposed upon the Democracy by revolting Republican factions. Greeley was a man of vast intelligence and knowledge, of spotless personal character and noble, unselfish motives. Cleveland is a man tattooed with shame, base and degraded in his personal relations, living only for himself and his own selfish and egotistic ends, profoundly ignorant and of a barren, common-place mind. But Ohio ends Cleveland, as North Carolina ended Greeley, and in the present case, as in the former, the great regret is over the madness and catastrophe of the Democracy. The unfit and deluded candidate deserves his fate.

The Telephone Suit.

The great suit between the American Bell and the People's Telephone Company, which was commenced over four years ago, has reached a hearing in the Circuit Court of the U. S. for the Southern District of New York. The leading counsel for the Bell Co. is Roscoe Conkling, and Senator Geo. F. Edmunds for the People's Co. The Bell Company sue the People's Company as infringers. The testimony discloses the fact that the real inventor of the telephone is a man in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, by the name of Daniel Drawbaugh, a poor man who constructed the first electric telephone as early as 1866. The general impression is that the Bell Company will lose their right to the patent. The final decision of this important case is looked for with great interest the world over.

Editorially, the important announcement is made in the Cincinnati Graphic, "upon private and authoritative information, that President Arthur and Miss Tillie Frelinghuysen, daughter of Secretary Frelinghuysen, are engaged to be married, and the wedding will take place during the second week of January next."

Mapleson has engaged Mlle. Nevada for America at £300 a night. The troupe sails for New York on the 23d instant.

Col. Fair is quite ailing in health and his physicians recommend a change of scene to save his life. He has been a fast and high liver and his friends say that they would not be surprised any time to see him fall off. If he dies before the next session of the Legislature, there will be two U. S. Senators to elect instead of one.—Carson Appeal.

With Senator Jones here next Saturday and Wm. Woodburn the Monday following and the inspiration and buzzing of local candidates the campaign will soon begin to boil and sizzle.—Reveille 11th.

Old Ben Butler, the champion demagogue, travels around the country in a $32,000 palace car, from which he addresses his fellow-workmen. Cleveland also charters a Pullman car when he rides on the rail and will permit only his personal friends to sit in it. This may be a Democratic and unostentatious way of traveling, but the public will be apt to look on it in a different light, especially as they read that Blaine finds an ordinary car good enough for him. It is astonishing how fond of the good things of this world the reformer and anti-monopolists candidates are and how little their lives conform to their theories.—S. F. Chronicle.

According to the statement of the world's supply of coin made by the Director of the United States Mint, there has been a loss of $52,000,000 in gold coin within the past twelve months and an increase of $42,000,000 in the supply of silver coin. These figures are somewhat startling. If such changes in the coin supply of the world are taking place, the importance of silver must receive increased attention at no distant day.—Bulletin.

SENATOR JONES COMING.—Senator J. Jones will address the people of Austin on the political issues of the day next Saturday evening, the 18th instant. Mr. Jones is an agreeable talker and will no doubt receive a rousing reception at the hands of all, regardless of party.—Austin Reville 11th.

The Pistol at Bernice—The Mining Situation.

ED. JOURNAL.—Our little burg was thrown into quite an excitement on the evening of the 9th by one Frank Wiley, shooting and dangerously wounding Frank Lee; on arriving at the scene Lee was found lying on the ground in great pain; he was immediately removed to a cabin near by and upon examination it was found that one shot had entered the body three inches below the right nipple and lodged in the lower rib; another bullet entered the fleshy part of the left thigh and passed entirely through. A messenger was immediately dispatched to Lovelock for medical aid, and Justice Healey was called in to take the wounded man's statement. Dr. Bank's, of Lovelock, arrived here thirty hours after the shooting occurred. He pronounced the wounds dangerous but not fatal. The Dr. thinks with proper care and attention he will get along all right. Wiley took to the hills immediately after the shooting, but about 1 o'clock A. M. he came in and gave himself up, and yesterday he had his preliminary examination before Justice Healey. J. D. Sullivan appeared in behalf of the State, Geo. Day for defendant. The only witness examined was Ben Hill. It appears that after Wiley left the hotel he went to Chinatown and shot his revolver off several times, and when he came back Lee was at the corral and asked Wiley why he did not feed the horses instead of going to Chinatown and shooting his revolver. Wiley said: "May be you don't like it; if you don't, I will give you some of it." Then the shooting commenced. Hill was unable to tell who fired the first shot. Mr. Hill and Frank Curtis were the only persons in the immediate vicinity, Curtis being absent after the Dr. was not here to testify at the examination. However Wiley was bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury. Fergusson and Cap. Ganey left this morning for Stillwater with the prisoner. To-day, the 12th, Lee is resting nicely and apparently not in much pain. All the excitement has now passed away, and everything is running smoothly again in its natural channel.

All the works in the mines are looking finely and plenty of ore. The main tunnel was run some 60 feet last month; the face shows good ore. The lower tunnel was run 30 feet, showing a good vein of ore, fourteen inches wide; up-raises 5 and 6 have fine ore assaying up in the hundreds. Mr. Ramsdhor is working the ore up to 92 per cent. Mr. Williams is well satisfied with Mr. Ramsdhor's management in the mill and thinks he has got the best mill man in the State. Last month the mill run only eighteen days; the pulley on the cam shaft broke and could not be replaced short of Austin. The result of the eighteen days run was $7,125. Supt. Williams is well pleased with his prospect, and it is now settled beyond a doubt that he will make a thriving camp of this place and be well paid for the time and money he has invested in this new enterprise.

Yours,
AJAX.

Sent to the Asylum.

Dell Crandell, of Carson, who some year ago was paymaster of the V. & T. Railroad, has been committed to the Insane Asylum. He was brought down yesterday by Commissioner Jones. The commitment states that his trouble is softening of the brain. He imagines that the whole world is making a tour of the world, and that he has charge of the whole business.

The Races.

The Reno races will commence Monday morning, and the indications are that for the first time in several years the event will not be blighted by bad weather. Tom Hymers attributes the event to the small posters and the very short notice given. He thinks that by reason of this fact the weather clerk had no opportunity to put up a job on the boys.

Postponed.

The social dance which was to have been given by the members of the A. O. U. W. at Verdi on the 24th has been postponed until the 29th. Reno people who had made calculations on attending the dance will make a note of this fact.

The White House.

Unless you inquire the price, you could scarcely be made to believe how cheaply a man can buy a comfortable, nice-looking suit of clothes at the White House in Reno. A suit, which a few years ago, sold all over the State for $25 and $40 can now be had for from $15 to $20. Their stock of overcoats is the largest ever brought to this market, and the man who cannot find a fit is badly out of shape. Their men's and boy's hats and caps of the 1884 styles, are cheaper than going bareheaded.

Safford.

Col. Tyson, in the Eureka Sentinel, gives a glowing picture of the mining interests in Safford district, and predicts for it a brilliant future. The work of developing some of the leading mines has been pushed vigorously for more than two years, and are now in excellent condition for extracting ore. Mr. Tyson thinks Safford will be on the list of bullion producing districts in a very short time.

Dangerously Ill.
